[1/16/2004 4:19:27 PM] [tinaSDtrader] I'm not a CPA, but a tax preparer.

[1/16/2004 4:19:56 PM] [dgraham42] HAd to leave before market open, Got home aftrer close... Had a good day. Better than when I'm watching & trading all day. Hmmmm what does that tell me?

[1/16/2004 4:20:27 PM] [tinaSDtrader] I haven't had that challenge on my own taxes yet, so not sure. I'd have to research it if it did happen to me.

[1/16/2004 4:20:38 PM] [honus99] dg, sometimes it's better to let the market do its magic

[1/16/2004 4:21:00 PM] [tinaSDtrader] Do you have any of Tesser's Trader's tax books? He may cover that.

[1/16/2004 4:21:04 PM] [hotto] dgraham.. tells me.. .you were in some good stocks.. and.. in an up market..)

[1/16/2004 4:21:05 PM] [AllWeOwn] they (he/she) was using tax preparation software for stocks

[1/16/2004 4:21:05 PM] [CyberDawg] dgaham42, it means you should consider swing trading!

[1/16/2004 4:21:16 PM] [kmgreen] tina, who are you talking too?

[1/16/2004 4:21:20 PM] [AllWeOwn] thanks I'll check them out

[1/16/2004 4:21:31 PM] [tinaSDtrader] to Allweown

[1/16/2004 4:22:20 PM] [tinaSDtrader] His newest one has a red cover, called "The New Trader's Tax Solution". You are right, not many CPAs specialize in active trading knowledge.

[1/16/2004 4:22:22 PM] [AllWeOwn] Tradelog

[1/16/2004 4:22:59 PM] [AllWeOwn] tx tina; my mentor says if you have SubS corp. you can jsut use mark to market inventory so you dont' have to list every trade

[1/16/2004 4:23:13 PM] [Borankin] The answer to that tax question is that the general rule is that the cost basis and holding period for stock sales is to be on the FIFO (First in, First out) basis, UNLESS at the time of the sale, you specify with the broker and the confirmation sheet shows that the sale is "VS" a specific acquisition. Hope this answers the question.

[1/16/2004 4:23:55 PM] [tinaSDtrader] Mark to Market does have different methods. If you have elected that status definitely read up on the rules.

[1/16/2004 4:23:58 PM] [kmgreen] I had allweown on ignore, not intenionally!!
[1/16/2004 4:24:45 PM] [AllWeOwn] ok thanks borankin thanks kmgr too !!! lol
[1/16/2004 4:25:33 PM] [AllWeOwn] rjw tax cut?
[1/16/2004 4:25:56 PM] [Borankin] Mark to market is entirely something else.
Generally it does not apply and the election is usually unavailable. In the case of Section 1256 Assets, the mark to market rules are mandatory.
[1/16/2004 4:26:08 PM] [tinaSDtrader] Hardly any of our clients at the tax ofc even trade, I've only had even a few Sch Ds so haven't encountered any complicated ones yet. My own, I tally my ROI daily on a spreadsheet and reconcile against my broker. I have my cost basis easily accessbile.
[1/16/2004 4:26:26 PM] [Pops] Tyler said the VOIP report was next, but I guess its sometime between now and 5PM
[1/16/2004 4:26:54 PM] [tinaSDtrader] All - if you are considering mark to market, I believe you must file that status by 4/15.
[1/16/2004 4:27:02 PM] [Borankin] AllWeOwn, that statement about the S Corp is not accurate.
[1/16/2004 4:27:45 PM] [kmgreen] I just download etrade and smith barney records to turbo tax and forget it (except to take sb costs to sched A) [1/16/2004 4:27:56 PM] [AllWeOwn] you have to file it the year PRIOR to the year
you intend to do it
[1/16/2004 4:28:08 PM] [Borankin] You can only elect mark to market if you are in fact in the business of trading. A lot of hoops to jump through in order to qualify. If you're not in the trade or business, you can NOT elect mark to market.
[1/16/2004 4:29:28 PM] [tinaSDtrader] yes - Borankin knows - I don't have to mark to market yet because carrying a capital loss from a partnership from few years back.
But also, I tutor traders, so get to write off many trading-related expenses Sch C where others may not be able to.
[1/16/2004 4:29:37 PM] [AllWeOwn] "she said" if you have adequate recordkeeping to prove your full time status, then you can call yourself trader, by occupation [1/16/2004 4:30:45 PM] [AllWeOwn] borakin seems to be the expert sorry to clog chat steam, but helpful to others perhaps [1/16/2004 4:30:48 PM] [cyberact] if one elects Mark to Market for this year...do the previous years accumulated losses get wiped out...?anybody knows..
[1/16/2004 4:30:57 PM] [w2jc] lots of good info about tax stuff available at <http://www.tradersaccounting.com/11504.asp>
[1/16/2004 4:31:15 PM] [hotto] Pops.. they always do that to us.. string us along..
The VoIP reports are so much in demand.. they can keep us here for hours.. lol
[1/16/2004 4:31:45 PM] [Pops] :D..agreed..

ClubHome

[1/16/2004 4:31:47 PM] [Borankin] Cyberact, you just hit on the problem. One should NOT elect the mark to market if they have Schedule D carryover losses from pre election years. I have not seen one good reason to make that election.

[1/16/2004 4:31:55 PM] [tinaSDtrader] Mark-to-market has pros and cons - merits thorough investigation to see if right for you or if you qualify.

[1/16/2004 4:32:20 PM] [payck] thanks hotto, everyone for a good week! You're all good company

[1/16/2004 4:32:34 PM] [cyberact] TY...Bor and Tina...

[1/16/2004 4:32:37 PM] [starrbucks] also market to market is not an automatic election...need to select it one year before the year going to use it..there is a form to fill out for say the year of '05 that must be filed by April '04.....there is an exception if your account is structured as a new business entity....this last part is not clear and I have many conversations about this because the IRS has clearly defined the rules for implemention ...sorry...there are some great articles about it in the trading magazineActive Trader by Robert Green...he is understandable

[1/16/2004 4:32:49 PM] [AllWeOwn] thanks everyone; sorry to open can of worms but complicated topic; and "trader status" is new occupation

[1/16/2004 4:33:12 PM] [Borankin] The only advantage of making the election is to be able to deduct losses. But since the election has to be made by April 15th, who the heck is in the business of trading and expects ahead of time to loose?

[1/16/2004 4:33:28 PM] [tinaSDtrader] yes star - Green's articles are helpful.

[1/16/2004 4:34:04 PM] [AllWeOwn] thought the advantage was that you could list only inventory at beginning and end of year, not necessary to list every trade; big advantage

[1/16/2004 4:34:50 PM] [Borankin] No, you still have to schedule all of your trades.

[1/16/2004 4:35:13 PM] [Borankin] The mark to market election only effects the open positions at December 31st.

[1/16/2004 4:35:36 PM] [kmgreen] why not list every trade when you can simply download them from your broker?

[1/16/2004 4:36:15 PM] [Borankin] Sometimes the broker's records are not accurate. Every broker I've seen issues the standard disclaimer.

[1/16/2004 4:36:21 PM] [hotto] yw pay... Thanks for working the market with me..)

[1/16/2004 4:36:52 PM] [starrbucks] that's is one aspect....but as far as writing off losses against income ...it is fabulous because not limited by the $3000/year rule but can be the actual amount lost in that year...a big advantage....and also protects the account from ligation???

[1/16/2004 4:37:17 PM] [AllWeOwn] yes i do that; import them into turbo tax;(check them against my records first- painstaking process) jsut gathering information

[1/16/2004 4:38:11 PM] [Borankin] Starbucks, technically you're correct, but who is in the business of trading expecting to loose. And if you continue to loose, how long will you continue in the business of trading.

[1/16/2004 4:38:24 PM] [starrbucks] check out LLC format rather than sub S and not a C-corp for sure

[1/16/2004 4:38:26 PM] [kmgreen] so who in THIS club as losses? =D

[1/16/2004 4:38:30 PM] [tinaSDtrader] good point Bor!

[1/16/2004 4:38:34 PM] [kmgreen] has

[1/16/2004 4:38:55 PM] [tinaSDtrader] See, this tax stuff is complicated. That's why I turn the heavy stuff over to the CPA!

[1/16/2004 4:39:13 PM] [Borankin] And Starbucks, if you have losses from pre-election years which have been subject to the $3,000 limitation, those losses are not now fully deductible.

[1/16/2004 4:39:20 PM] [AllWeOwn] plenty from 2000 & 2001; still working to get them back; we entered the market as UNINFORMED investors with a WONDERFUL broker at the top of hte bubble?

[1/16/2004 4:40:15 PM] [kmgreen] allwe; join the club

[1/16/2004 4:40:36 PM] [Borankin] As I state in my profile, there are only three things I know anything about: options, taxes, and baseball. Been options trader for 20 years, a tax practitioner for 40 years, and a baseball fan for 60 years.

[1/16/2004 4:41:06 PM] [Borankin] Go Marlins.

[1/16/2004 4:41:26 PM] [starrbucks] a great reference is in ..ACTIVE TRADER MAGIZINE.....has almost every issue this kind of info by a ...Robert Green CPA ...a specialist in trading issues...give a look the rest of the magizine is the best IMHO...)

[1/16/2004 4:42:15 PM] [tinaSDtrader] I agree, Active Trader is awesome. Green's articles good, but can't go into the needed detail and exceptions in couple of pages. Strongly advise consult an expert directly.

[1/16/2004 4:42:35 PM] [AllWeOwn] bor do you prepare trader's taxes?

[1/16/2004 4:42:37 PM] [tinaSDtrader] In fact, I believe Green probably available for consult, tho may be expensive.

[1/16/2004 4:43:48 PM] [AllWeOwn] ok officially closing tax chat thanks for patience all and thanks for sources, facts, opinions, etc. esp borakin

[1/16/2004 4:44:26 PM] [RJMGroup] The best way to reach Green and his people for FREE is through their Thursday PalTalk chats that last an hour. I've got lots of free info that way.

[1/16/2004 4:57:58 PM] [Luigistock] btw my goal for 2004 is to start using punctuation

[1/16/2004 4:58:29 PM] [Luigistock] i reall y like the custom indicator ability in esignal i wonder how comparable they will be

[1/16/2004 4:58:57 PM] [RJMGroup] I can create custom indicators in MetaStock but I really want to consolidate my massive amount of software packages.

[1/16/2004 4:59:40 PM] [RJMGroup] Or, just completely screw myself and upgrade to TradeStation and learn yet another software package. :)

[1/16/2004 5:00:59 PM] [RJMGroup] Right. Kuf, said a week before the expiration of the latest build date on your CD at the latest, I think.

[1/16/2004 5:01:19 PM] [RJMGroup] God, I hope that doesn't mean 2/7/2004 for me. :)

[1/16/2004 5:01:24 PM] [Sully] I need to check my mail for the new version since I am living in NC right now and am close

[1/16/2004 5:18:33 PM] [TuscanaGold] I spend enough time in the Hotto Clubs
[1/16/2004 5:18:40 PM] [RJMGroup] I'll be there. I'm meeting with Tom Bierovic in NY.
[1/16/2004 5:19:12 PM] [TuscanaGold] I used to go to the Gold Show in NY
[1/16/2004 5:19:15 PM] [Luigistock] alright going to faint gotta eat cya later
[1/16/2004 5:19:16 PM] [RJMGroup] I'd prefer it in Atlantic City like the last Money Show here. I'm not a fan of Manhattan.
[1/16/2004 5:19:21 PM] [RJMGroup] Ciao.
[1/16/2004 5:20:52 PM] [StockStalker] bye for now.. check ya laterr

[1/16/2004 5:21:38 PM] [TuscanaGold] Where?
[1/16/2004 5:21:42 PM] [RJMGroup] New Jersey
[1/16/2004 5:21:58 PM] [RJMGroup] Aren't you from FL? You know the 50 states, right? ;)
[1/16/2004 5:22:35 PM] [TuscanaGold] Englewood, Newark, Flemington?
[1/16/2004 5:23:15 PM] [RJMGroup] Oh, you mean what location within NJ? About 20 minutes north of Newark. Squeezed between Kearny and Lyndhurst. Southern tip of Bergen County.
[1/16/2004 5:23:48 PM] [RJMGroup] I believe there's a TCNet Club Meeting in FL in January.
[1/16/2004 5:23:58 PM] [TuscanaGold] On Jan 20th
[1/16/2004 5:24:29 PM] [RJMGroup] Yeah, I think they're discussing Tom Bierovic's last visit. I'm registering for his seminar at Trader's Expo next month.
[1/16/2004 5:25:17 PM] [RJMGroup] We have no official TCNet club here,

ClubHome

unfortunately.

[1/16/2004 5:26:01 PM] [TuscanaGold] Yes to Tom being there. However, I can't attend that night.

[1/16/2004 5:26:26 PM] [RJMGroup] Tom lives in FL too. Did you see him speak last month?

[1/16/2004 5:27:38 PM] [TuscanaGold] No.

[1/16/2004 5:28:21 PM] [RJMGroup] I'd like to attend his seminar. Also, purchase Alexander Elder's seminar at Trader's Expo. These are some long classes. Five hours and seven hours, I believe.

[1/16/2004 5:30:58 PM] [HOTTO] Doris has joined the club. Please welcome your new member.

[1/16/2004 5:31:29 PM] [Kuf] RJM start one up!

[1/16/2004 5:32:02 PM] [RJMGroup] Kuf, I would but there's no official support for clubs like VectorVest does. They have club directory, contact info, and even commit money to the clubs.

[1/16/2004 5:32:07 PM] [TuscanaGold] LOL...lots of retirees down here

[1/16/2004 5:32:41 PM] [RJMGroup] I called Support a few weeks ago about it and I was told there was no official support.

[1/16/2004 5:33:16 PM] [Aktony] I am interested RJM. Many people in the NY area are not aware of the sign up on FW's club site. Perhaps we could post a notice on the AllTCNet club site.

[1/16/2004 5:33:25 PM] [Kuf] actually there is, contact Jabez through TCMail

[1/16/2004 5:33:32 PM] [Kuf] he's our business relations manager

[1/16/2004 5:33:42 PM] [Kuf] he goes through out the country setting up local user groups

[1/16/2004 5:34:00 PM] [RJMGroup] Oh, ok. I got the impression from Support there was nothing official. Worden helps with costs too?

[1/16/2004 5:34:28 PM] [Kuf] don't think we help with costs, but you can set up your own dues system. I don't know how it works but I do know we fly around the country to help set up local user groups

[1/16/2004 5:35:01 PM] [RJMGroup] Well, that's definitely a step in the right direction. I'll contact Jabez. I'm 20 minutes from Manhattan so it could cover NY/NJ.

[1/16/2004 5:35:04 PM] [TuscanaGold] LOL..and very young inexperienced drivers thrown into the mix.

[1/16/2004 5:35:59 PM] [RJMGroup] Kuf, I'm impressed. You're everywhere on TCNet. From version 2.3 this morning to users groups this evening. Excellent job!

[1/16/2004 5:36:23 PM] [Kuf] I'm TCNet's biggest lurker, I multi-task well

[1/16/2004 5:36:33 PM] [RJMGroup] Whatever the Wordens are paying you they should double it. ;)

[1/16/2004 5:36:44 PM] [RJMGroup] You're the Windows operating system of humans.

[1/16/2004 5:37:40 PM] [RJMGroup] Does Jabez work for Worden too?

[1/16/2004 5:48:07 PM] [Redwood] KUF-- My wifes dream to have someone like you around the house!!!

[1/16/2004 6:17:07 PM] [starrbucks] available

[1/16/2004 6:20:39 PM] [RJMGroup] Kuf mentioned something about leaving for the day about 20 minutes ago. I don't think he's still on-line.

[1/16/2004 6:20:56 PM] [RJMGroup] I think it starts shipping in a week though.

[1/16/2004 6:21:24 PM] [RJMGroup] You should have it a week before the expiration date on your CD at the latest from what I've heard.

[1/16/2004 6:21:41 PM] [Stixman] P Worden says it ships a week from today.

[1/16/2004 6:22:03 PM] [kmack] mine is already in the mail...

[1/16/2004 6:22:20 PM] [RJMGroup] Some of the testers already have it too.

[1/16/2004 6:33:40 PM] [cyberact] i think i am going to go to CNBC and Hype my business.....man people buy anything now a days
[1/16/2004 6:33:50 PM] [ChuckR] from message board...Keep in mind that it is going to be 18 months before the results of these Phase 3 studies are released. The price will most likely fluctuate alot in the interim and it is still quite speculative. Even Kramer squeaked in right at the end of the AXYX TV segment with the phrase, "Please be careful". Adam Feuerstein on the Street.com in the past week said that this is not a stock to bet the kids college money on. He has published alot of favorable comments on AXYX over the past few weeks. I am an MD and I own AXYX but I see it as a long term holding that might work or it might not.
[1/16/2004 6:34:04 PM] [cyberact] 1999 all over
[1/16/2004 6:36:16 PM] [ChuckR] missed high by .06....7.39.....but...)=D

[1/16/2004 11:26:30 PM] [kennethroyal] Anyone see what happened with gib (last bar of today on both 60' & 10'). Dramatic drop of OBV & TSV on ^d vol. Interpretation ???
[1/16/2004 11:28:29 PM] [RJMGroup] Maybe it was the news that the Canadian DOJ signed a contract with them.
[1/16/2004 11:41:40 PM] [kennethroyal] Tks RJM - yes I see it now - Cdn Fed Justice Dept signed 14.5M ovr 5 yrs contract - works out to almost $3M each yr in coy whose annl sales are $2.0M. Tks
[1/16/2004 11:41:58 PM] [RJMGroup] It's just a guess though. :)
[1/16/2004 11:43:29 PM] [kennethroyal] But, RJM, such good news should make OBV & TSV nose up, not down.
[1/16/2004 11:44:48 PM] [RkyMtnFool] kr, check the daily chart - outstanding. No need to focus on the last 10 minutes.
