[3/18/2004 1:25:54 PM] [acmetrader] there is a widely thought theory that binny is captured and bushhy is waiting for the right most perfect re-election moment to announce it
[3/18/2004 1:26:38 PM] [hotto] But... Most all company news releases are timed for best chart effect.. Just like analyst upgrades / downgrades.. imo...
[3/18/2004 1:26:55 PM] [acmetrader] I used to write those news releases Hotto, it is not true
[3/18/2004 1:27:21 PM] [hotto] ok
[3/18/2004 1:27:40 PM] [acmetrader] though some may try, there are just too many things going on in a company to focus on that

[3/18/2004 1:28:19 PM] [acmetrader] they are material events, contracts signed, etc...has to go through legal review before released...outside things happen with many hands involved
[3/18/2004 1:28:46 PM] [payck] last night hotto, you speculated if we got above the Ir30, we'd have a shot at 10370, do you think that's still in the cards, er charts?

[3/18/2004 1:35:46 PM] [StockStalker] A lot of moving parts in this breaking story. Bloomberg had reported that al Zawahiri had surrendered and cited Sky News. Sky News' website has reported that al Zawahiri has been surrounded, citing Musharraf, which he did not say. Musharraf indicated that it was a high-level target, but did not specify al Zawahiri. It is unclear what the real truth is, but it appears evident by the numerous reports that Pakistani troops may be close to getting al Zawahiri.

[3/18/2004 1:35:47 PM] [cobralso] Hotto do you think CCJ will go to the moon? =D

[3/18/2004 1:36:26 PM] [acmetrader] CNBC said someone was captured

[3/18/2004 1:36:47 PM] [StockStalker] Zawahiri - tho govt has not officially confirmed it

[3/18/2004 1:39:26 PM] [StockStalker] The unnamed official says it is uncertain the identity of the individual. Meanwhile, Bloomberg has run a subsequent headline saying that Sky says al Zawahiri has been "surrounded." This appears to be a subtle form of retraction on their earlier headline, though they have not officially noted that.
[3/18/2004 1:39:46 PM] [StockStalker] kinda like the CNBC coverage of the Marth verdict!
