[1/11/2004 12:16:46 PM] [CashMan] hotto I think I'm finally catching on. I'm a little stubborn headed and want to make things harder than they are but this stuff is starting to sink in. If things keep going as they are I should be able to do this full time by June. :)

[1/11/2004 1:48:36 PM] [Johnster] hotto, many of these stocks aren't on your website watchlists (e.g., MTSN not on your CE list, TRIB and EMRG not on your Bio list, etc.). I guess we're not supposed to limit ourselves to just what's on the Watchlists...can you explain when you decide to go beyond them and how we should incorporate them into our trading? You seem to have as many trades NOT on the W/Ls as those that are...leaves me a bit confuded. Thanks.

[1/11/2004 2:40:23 PM] [signaltap] I see earnings on Jan22 for INGP and also the stock migration schedule, I guess very positive!

[1/11/2004 2:41:29 PM] [Luca] I'm also new to HOTTO's methods and would like to know if his style is day trading, short term or long term ???

[1/11/2004 2:41:48 PM] [acmetrader] yes Luca

[1/11/2004 2:41:59 PM] [tiga] ATMI interesting that OBV has not approached the spet high. looks like more pb in store.

[1/11/2004 2:42:03 PM] [Luca] All styles

[1/11/2004 2:42:17 PM] [tiga] september

[1/11/2004 2:42:20 PM] [Luca] thx

[1/11/2004 2:44:21 PM] [Luca] Is there any write ups for his short term method ? I can't day trade and long term is well, long term.

[1/11/2004 2:45:24 PM] [Luca] I'd like to learn more about trading from 1 to say 10 days

[1/11/2004 2:50:44 PM] [wildbill] luca u will find that hotto's methods are variable depending on the type of market we are in - is what makes his methods so special - they are adaptable to "current" market conditions

[1/11/2004 2:51:35 PM] [rsi77] Luca, you can swing trade by paying more attention to the targets (i.e. t=.., or T=...) and paying less attention to the scalp points (i.e. s=..)

[1/11/2004 2:52:38 PM] [rsi77] Even scalp points are usually several days away...so they are good for intermediate swing trade targets....or places to watch more carefully

[1/11/2004 2:53:35 PM] [rsi77] ...then pay attention to his whole market view to decide if it's time to go sell your weaker longs and sit on cash for a few days

[1/11/2004 2:55:40 PM] [hotto] GRIC.. held Thursday's close.. and sma50 after the BO50.. Thursday.. did PB to ema100.. I expect it to work higher in a few days... not sure about Monday

[1/11/2004 2:56:22 PM] [Luca] Thanks wildbill and rsi77

[1/11/2004 2:57:01 PM] [rsi77] yw....you found a good place here Luca, set yourself to learn....there's lots of good teaching here

[1/11/2004 2:57:22 PM] [acmetrader] TINY is insane

[1/11/2004 2:59:20 PM] [Luca] Newbie question when does HOTTO do his whole market view ??

[1/11/2004 3:01:14 PM] [rsi77] Check yesterday's lot (Saturday) and also around the close on Friday...I think he doesn't expect big pullback here...probably up in the AM Monday (at least)...bigger pullback (down around 10k breakout point for DJ-30) may come after earnings season...correct my anybody if I'm wrong.

[1/11/2004 3:01:17 PM] [wildbill] every night at 8pm .....don't be late .....then on Sat mornings .....for an hour or two LOL... or 3 or 6 or.....

[1/11/2004 3:02:09 PM] [Luca] I'm There thanks all

[1/11/2004 3:02:10 PM] [azheat] hotto, would appreciate your coaching on handling long SIRI position considering the negative Barrons article

[1/11/2004 3:02:24 PM] [rsi77] Saturday morning is the most comprehensive market overview (typically)

[1/11/2004 3:05:54 PM] [Luca] I'll go check out the chat log from yesterday !

[1/11/2004 3:09:59 PM] [Stixman] azheat ...didn't see Barrons article but technically SIRI is holding late Dec trendline, above LR30, good volume, OBV heading up, just below upper bb I would wait to see if it holds LR30 before selling. as always JMHO

[1/11/2004 3:13:35 PM] [poppop_1943] malealltrash mention the mIRC chat program the other night. anyone here monitor any of the stock channels on mIRC?

[1/11/2004 3:20:17 PM] [azheat] then again! who is? lol

[1/11/2004 3:21:27 PM] [azheat] Barrons negativity can still create a big downdraft

[1/11/2004 3:25:09 PM] [Robweb] Thanks on GRIC

[1/11/2004 3:26:40 PM] [Lvu2] Luca I agree with you. Am also new to this club and TCNet. Am very interested in learning more about hotto's method particularly in a swing trade timeframe( e.g.2 days to 2-3 weeks)

[1/11/2004 3:29:27 PM] [rsi77] Swing trade...at end of December some of Hotto's strongest recommendations were AVNX, BKHM, ADCT...he said they were good longer term trades...

[1/11/2004 3:29:48 PM] [rsi77] ...part of his "whole market strategy"...

[1/11/2004 3:31:40 PM] [rsi77] It's usually pretty clear how to use Hotto strategy for swing trading, imo....just have to not pay attention to everything said regarding scalping...lots of intraday stuff...but just ignore it.

[1/11/2004 3:32:05 PM] [rsi77] gotta run

[1/11/2004 3:34:11 PM] [Lvu2] thanks rsi77

[1/11/2004 3:36:05 PM] [Luca] AVNX, BKHM & ADCT looking good thanks rsi77

[1/11/2004 3:48:21 PM] [w2jc] also included the procedure for find the stocks that are included in a specific MG sector ...

[1/11/2004 3:50:28 PM] [CashMan] So Bob Prechter is bearish. Does any one know who he is?

[1/11/2004 3:53:05 PM] [Lvu2] cash, never heard of him.

[1/11/2004 3:53:08 PM] [ron643] Prechter elliot wave guru very good in 80's .but been bearish 20 years

[1/11/2004 3:53:17 PM] [Bobtrader] Lvu2...

[1/11/2004 3:53:34 PM] [nasdaqboy] CashMan - Prechter wrote several books on Elliot Wave. Though he's no Firstwave!

[1/11/2004 3:53:57 PM] [Bobtrader] Lvu2...YES....FEPO..PPINIOFR

[1/11/2004 3:54:07 PM] [BWill] he told his subscribers to go 200% short back in the spring...

[1/11/2004 3:54:41 PM] [BWill] not the best advice you'll get

[1/11/2004 3:55:21 PM] [Lvu2] Bob, what does all that alphabet soup mean?

[1/11/2004 3:55:25 PM] [BWill] and I recall hotto mentioning the "Prechter curse" the other day....

[1/11/2004 3:55:41 PM] [CashMan] ron so he has been bearish for 20 years you say? That doesn't sound very good for him.

[1/11/2004 3:56:34 PM] [ron643] he's right every now and then 99-2001

[1/11/2004 3:56:59 PM] [CashMan] Sounds like you would want to do the opposite of what he tells yeah.

[1/11/2004 3:58:21 PM] [BWill] I think the allure of listening to Prechter, and some others, is that most of us start out wanting to know ]what happens next[... the old "tomorrow's newspaper" wish

[1/11/2004 3:59:31 PM] [BWill] listening to people like hotto, FW, Candlestick1... ya just have to get to a place where you're trading what is, not what you hope will be

[1/11/2004 4:01:06 PM] [CashMan] BWill I agree with your statement and what is nice about hotto, firstwave, and candlestick they teach you how they get to that point.

[1/11/2004 4:01:22 PM] [Lvu2] B. W. do you use Candlestick patterns as a technical analysis tool in your trading?

[1/11/2004 4:01:26 PM] [ron643] he's very smart Yale grad with honors was right on for a while but been off track for long time

[1/11/2004 4:01:55 PM] [themasdtrader] BWill...don't leave out wildbill...with the possible exception of hottoworks.com...he publishes the best paper.

[1/11/2004 4:02:38 PM] [BWill] L2, right now I'm trying to get consistent with a couple of simple patterns... not specific candles, although I'm trying to look at how they fit in

[1/11/2004 4:03:18 PM] [BWill] ... got really sloppy last fall, so cut way back, trying to re-establish some discipline

[1/11/2004 4:06:21 PM] [Lvu2] BW. Am also learning candlesticks. Good web sites for information on candlesticks forum.com and stock charts.com

[1/11/2004 4:06:43 PM] [BWill] madt, I enjoy wb, but I don't have daily market time usually, so I can't follow his trades

[1/11/2004 4:08:01 PM] [themasdtrader] BWill...that's too bad...it's amazing how accurate he is.

[1/11/2004 4:08:02 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] REmember, there is an excellent video tutorial on candlesticks you can see free.

[1/11/2004 4:08:23 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] it features Steve Nison who brought candlesticks to American in the 90's

[1/11/2004 4:08:49 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] the video shows you how to combine candles with traditional TA

[1/11/2004 4:09:22 PM] [Lvu2] I love music. Where can one see that video?

[1/11/2004 4:09:46 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] At Cybertrade.com ... but you need a log on ID

[1/11/2004 4:10:09 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] you can get an demo logon ID that lets you do all the good stuff

[1/11/2004 4:10:41 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] please send me email, phone number and full name if you'd like me to get demo ID for you.

[1/11/2004 4:11:22 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] Demo ID also lets you do 15 second scans of entire market using a custom filter

[1/11/2004 4:11:35 PM] [Lvu2] I love music, thank you for the information. And will send an e-mail.

[1/11/2004 4:13:25 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] A nice featre of the video is you can search for any topic and zero in on it

[1/11/2004 4:13:47 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] For example, to review the discussion of shooting star, just search for shooting star

[1/11/2004 4:15:04 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] I really like the way the video shows how to use the 3 budda pattern (I misspell budda I know)

[1/11/2004 4:15:24 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] or head and shoulders pattern to set targets

[1/11/2004 4:15:33 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] and then use candles to confirm the target

[1/11/2004 4:16:59 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] TCnet has the best and fastest system for scanning for candle patterns on daily charts, I think.

[1/11/2004 4:17:20 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] but Cybertrader is great for 15 second scan of the entire market.

[1/11/2004 4:17:29 PM] [Lvu2] I love music, for your information, I have not been typing in a single word. I have been experimenting lately. And am using my speech recognition software to dictate 100% directly into the chat room and it has been working very very well with TCNet. The programs are very compatible plus it offers a lot of advantages to chatting in TCNet. I have recently pointed this out to support to technical support at TCNet.

[1/11/2004 4:18:01 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] what speech program are you using?

[1/11/2004 4:18:18 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] I've tried them in the past many times, but was always disappointed.

[1/11/2004 4:18:36 PM] [Lvu2] I am using Dragon NaturallySpeaking and the technology has come a long long way

[1/11/2004 4:18:52 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] I tried that one, too, about 3 or 4 years ago.

[1/11/2004 4:19:35 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] It would be great for me as a writer, if it would work.

[1/11/2004 4:19:48 PM] [Lvu2] I love music the latest version is version seven. Even IBM has recently joined up with the dragon people because they see the advantages

[1/11/2004 4:20:47 PM] [w2jc] bet hotto would love it during the day!! he could dictate his responses while using his fingers to trade !!

[1/11/2004 4:21:41 PM] [Lvu2] I love music. I have used it for years and it works very very well in dictating documents. I have lately been experimenting and trying it in this TCNet chat room. Unfortunately the chat was built for typing in and at the time it was programmed I suspect he did not envisage dictation directly into the chat room

[1/11/2004 4:23:00 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] Does it work dictating into chat or are there problems?

[1/11/2004 4:23:23 PM] [Lvu2] it would work very well for a chat room monitor. I have

[1/11/2004 4:32:46 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] thanks for invo. Lvu2. I may try Dragon Dictate Again. But those guys won't even give me a price break on an upgrade.

[1/11/2004 4:38:14 PM] [CashMan] ?

[1/11/2004 4:52:17 PM] [ilovemusicCOM] ?

[1/11/2004 4:57:55 PM] [StockStalker] LVU2 are u using the "Preferred" version or just the Essential or what.... what is the difference in your opinion

[1/11/2004 5:09:49 PM] [Rjw] ..does anyone find that proccessor speed or memory makes a diference in tc net perfomance and what gives the best performance

[1/11/2004 5:14:38 PM] [erisalaw] Always, within reason get the highest speed consisten with a reasonable butget. Look at the AMD 2500 hz Barton technology processor. Put the extra money a faster processor would require into faster disk drives (at least Serial ATA but SCSI would be best). IMHO

[1/11/2004 5:18:08 PM] [Rjw] Thanks for the input

[1/11/2004 5:23:47 PM] [erisalaw] Aslo look for a dual monitor (or more) wideo card with at least 64MB of its own memory. I actually recommend a video card with 128MB or even 256MB of separate DDR vidio memory. The macjine should have 512MB or 1GB of DDR memory.

[1/11/2004 5:24:47 PM] [StockStalker] and no Modem!

[1/11/2004 5:27:11 PM] [tiga] put a gig in....I had 512 and was impressed with the speed increase. Cheap now a days

[1/11/2004 5:54:55 PM] [husker] are you guys saying charts will load faster with video cards that have more memory?

[1/11/2004 5:59:59 PM] [erisalaw] Husker. The faster (within reason) the processor, the more the memory and the better the disk drives the faster the results. Therefore, buy as much as you can afford. I generally have at least 35 positions open - have had over 50 and speed is important.

[1/11/2004 6:11:07 PM] [husker] Erislaw- you are talking about processor speed, I thought the conversation was about the memory available in the video card.

[1/11/2004 6:17:46 PM] [husker] .

[1/11/2004 6:18:57 PM] [husker] .

[1/11/2004 8:48:14 PM] [StockStalker] No, only toms (male turkeys) gobble. Hens (females) make a clicking noise.
[1/11/2004 8:48:27 PM] [StockStalker] The gobble is a seasonal call (Spring and Fall) only the male turkeys (toms) make. Hens are attracted for mating when a tom gobbles. Wild toms love to gobble when they hear loud sounds. They also gobble when they settle in for the night. A gobbling turkey can be heard a mile away on a still day.
