[4/18/2004 11:04:56 AM] <Kermitp> Moe - here are some breakout candidates

[4/18/2004 11:05:33 AM] <Kermitp> Moe - SGR,MZ,LSS,CYBS,VCMP,WRPC,BBII

[4/18/2004 11:14:05 AM] <Moe> ty kermitp

[4/18/2004 11:14:37 AM] <Moe> will lookk up and will comew back to you

[4/18/2004 11:21:04 AM] <Kermitp> Moe - take a look at the 15' you will see that all but VCMP held well doing the day, t ha jump from 3 to 10

[4/18/2004 11:27:16 AM] <Kermitp> Moe - watch the volume on a few of these like BBII (news play)

[4/18/2004 11:33:00 AM] <Kermitp> Look as well for shares of CyberSource (CYBS, Trade) to stay active in late trade after the company reported a first-quarter profit late Thursday, confounding expectations of a loss. The Mountain View, Calif.-based company said it earned $0.6 million, or 2 cents a share, in the quarter, against a loss of $2.1 million, or 6 cents a share, last year. The average estimate of analysts polled by Thomson First Call was for a loss of 4 cents. Revenue rose to $8.5 million, above the company's outlook of $7.3 million.

[4/18/2004 11:33:13 AM] <Moe> BBII to speculative; Virtually no vol normally, except 125K on (1) 15m spike, then based all day 3,15 - 3,25... Nice BO from 2,75, if you were holding....

[4/18/2004 11:33:56 AM] <kellam> thx for lead Kermit

[4/18/2004 11:39:05 AM] <frank54> .

[4/18/2004 11:47:23 AM] <Moe> I like MZ and WRPC, the others had nice BO but i would question their continuation ,,whereas MZ and WRPC have strong indicators going and their BO was not excessive, room to continue up...will look to pick up on their pullback

[4/18/2004 1:01:09 PM] <Stixman> No biggy...Like all chart decisions...must be made by the individual. I really only care what it is going to do for the next few hours or days...beyond that it's someone elses interest

[4/18/2004 1:02:16 PM] <Kermitp> You had said it was in 2002, glad we are seeing the same chart, had me worried that one of us had bad data.
