[3/14/2004 3:10:01 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] Hotto's Saturday Chat was back -- GREAT market view, imho.

[3/14/2004 3:15:32 PM] [loftyB] Yes it was great TDM,- what's Prechter saying these days?

[3/14/2004 3:16:07 PM] [loftyB] End of the World?

[3/14/2004 3:17:02 PM] [TradeWinner] Let's go Maryland

[3/14/2004 3:28:08 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] Prechter is saying DJIA 4000, according to Barrons.....I've heard as low as DJIA 600 out of him in years past however.....he will always be right at least twice per day, minimally.

[3/14/2004 3:29:13 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] Congratulations on Herman Maier, Stefan Eberharter, Bernie Reich 1-2-3 finish in men's World Cup ski racing, lofty, btw...

[3/14/2004 3:29:28 PM] [loftyB] A clock that has stopped will also always be right twice in 24 hrs !

[3/14/2004 3:29:41 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] You noticed, on the clock...very good.

[3/14/2004 3:30:51 PM] [loftyB] I'm English but I go with the winning team,- Maier, Eberharter etc. Bode also managed to pick up a crystal globe.

[3/14/2004 3:49:25 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] Bode is a piece of work, but great competitor. GREAT year for USA men's ski racing, though....

[3/14/2004 3:52:06 PM] [tsanman] Is there a specific time for the Hotto moderated chats?

[3/14/2004 4:45:11 PM] [Harley] Hi holland
[3/14/2004 4:45:19 PM] [Holland] hi
[3/14/2004 4:46:57 PM] [Harley] Ijust put in a second gomputer how do i transfer tg net data to the new comp
[3/14/2004 4:47:26 PM] [Harley] tc net
[3/14/2004 4:48:27 PM] [Holland] harley that one I never did can't help you there
[3/14/2004 4:48:38 PM] [Harley] pcf watch list that stuff
[3/14/2004 4:49:04 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] use your backup file from the previous computer, Harley...that's how I did it, I believe.
[3/14/2004 4:49:08 PM] [Harley] OK thanks Holland
[3/14/2004 4:49:45 PM] [Harley] hey TDM thanks
[3/14/2004 4:50:34 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] In TC2000 file under Program Files, go to
"User" file, "Autobackups" file....and you can RESTORE that file to your new version,
I believe....check HELP files.
[3/14/2004 4:50:55 PM] [Harley] how to send to new compuer?
[3/14/2004 4:51:30 PM] [Harley] TDM thanks
[3/14/2004 4:51:31 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] Well, you need to get that file from one machine to the other somehow....direct transfer, CD, floppy, whatever...
[3/14/2004 4:51:53 PM] [AllWeOwn] harley are you transferring in that you are only going to use TCNet on new computer, no longer on old?
[3/14/2004 4:51:55 PM] [TrillionDolarMan] Then RESTORE TCNet using the old backup file, I believe..again...CHECK HELP FILES!!!!!!!
[3/14/2004 4:52:52 PM] [Harley] or let the smart lady at the radio shack do it
[3/14/2004 4:54:04 PM] [TraderGeorge] on your old computer go to file backup save and exit then make a copy of the backup on a floppy or cd and transfer it to your new computer. in tcnet on the new computer go to file restore, click on the file that you transferred then click yes when if you want to overwrite.
[3/14/2004 4:55:16 PM] [TraderGeorge] when asked if you want to overwrite. using the autobackup file method mentioned above also works [3/14/2004 4:57:22 PM] [AllWeOwn] make sure your backup file, or the autoback up file that you use for "restore" is a complete one i.e. adequate size. SOMETimes if you turn off your computer befoer the autobackup is done, you will get a partial backup.
[3/14/2004 4:58:29 PM] [TraderGeorge] which is why it's better to create a backup then restore it--if the backup is successful u will get a msg so stating [3/14/2004 5:00:51 PM] [TraderGeorge] also, note that your layouts are not backed up this way. to restore them to the new computer go to user file than data file then

ClubHome

layouts folder copy the unique ones you created and put them in the same place on the new computer, i.e., the layouts folder

[3/14/2004 5:06:18 PM] [Harley] thanks Tg and All

[3/14/2004 5:06:56 PM] [AllWeOwn] remember you will need a different machine key# for the new computer (me thinks) TCNet tech support is really good at making sure you do the transfer correctly. I know if you are using two computers they have to reset your machine key when you want to update on teh ontehr computer, then reset it again so you can switch back to your original. That is how you can keep your backup data reasonably current on two computers wiht only one machine key. (They recommend doing that once every two weeks.) Also, if you are moving data (transferring, whatever) and you install onto a new computer, sometimes the buiild has expired and it will not install properly. In that case you have to wait until they mail you a new build version. They can walk you thru a "clean install" also. imo it is not as easy as it looks to do it right

[3/14/2004 5:09:39 PM] [AllWeOwn] I think it is too late to get your machine key reset for today. They are avail until 3pmET

[3/14/2004 5:10:46 PM] [WhiteRabbit1] In addition to a machine reset, you have to have a disk that can be installed - it says "install by [date]". If not you cannot install and have to ask for a new disk to be sent

[3/14/2004 5:11:45 PM] [WhiteRabbit1] if you do have a disk with a good date, look at the papers they sent you, there should be a secondary machine key number

[3/14/2004 5:12:07 PM] [WhiteRabbit1] so you will not need support to install

[3/14/2004 5:18:31 PM] [AllWeOwn] sorry about that yes forgot that they send 2 machine keys now

[3/14/2004 5:32:17 PM] [Harley] thanks for the info guys and gal

[3/14/2004 5:49:33 PM] [ibuckskin] .

[3/14/2004 7:08:16 PM] [Nipsy331] .

[3/14/2004 8:05:12 PM] [MarcoPolo] Japan +160.87

[3/14/2004 9:52:05 PM] [hotto] There are news reports that Al-Queda is connected to the Spain terrorism. And "W" lost his best friend in Europe in the Spain election. This may act to depress markets tomorrow, and over the next several days. Watch the foreign markets and futures tomorrow morning for a hint. Japan and China look ok - so far. SP-500 Futures down early. Market numbers should help clarify by noon ET.

[3/14/2004 10:24:19 PM] [TraderDad] .
